To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for Sydney Byro. Ms. Byro's content knowledge, pedagogical skills, and extremely enthusiastic and flexible disposition makes her more than ready to lead and teach a classroom of her own.

I have known Sydney for just over a semester; she was an outstanding student of mine in Methods of Teaching Social Studies last fall. In getting to know Ms. Byro inside and outside of class I can say that her passion for teaching is nearly unparalleled and that she has genuine care for her students and the profession. Sydney is prepared for the transition from educator preparation to leading her own set of classes. She has taken a broad and interdisciplinary set of curricula and demonstrates great capacity to work with students, fellow teachers, administrators, parents, and the community. Her creativity, willingness to try new things, and her lesson planning ability are beyond her years.

Sydney will be a very successful and quality educator. I have greatly benefited from getting to know her as a student and look forward to working with her as a teacher colleague. I know her future school and classroom will benefit from having her as well.

Please let me know if you would like any additional information about Ms. Byro.

Best,
